1. Policy Purpose

This Refund Policy explains when customers of Nexora Technologies are eligible for a refund on subscription purchases, how refund requests are reviewed, and how long refund processing takes. It applies to all Nexora products, including Nexora CloudDesk, Nexora SecureVault, Nexora InsightPro, and Nexora Connect, purchased under the Starter, Professional, Business, or Enterprise subscription plans.

2. Scope

This policy applies to subscription purchases made directly through Nexora Technologies. It covers monthly subscriptions, annual subscriptions, duplicate charges, and confirmed billing errors. It does not override any additional terms agreed in a signed Enterprise services contract, where such terms are more specific than this general policy.

3. Definitions

- Initial purchase: the first payment made when a customer subscribes to a paid plan.
- Renewal charge: a recurring payment made automatically when a subscription period ends and the subscription continues.
- Refund window: the number of calendar days during which a customer may request a full refund of an initial purchase.
- Business day: a working day used for processing and response-time calculations, excluding weekends and public holidays.

4. Monthly Subscription Refunds

A customer may request a full refund within exactly 7 calendar days of the initial paid monthly purchase.

4.1 Conditions

- This refund window applies only to the first paid purchase of a monthly subscription.
- It does not apply automatically to monthly renewal charges.
- It does not apply where there is evidence of misuse, fraud, or a significant violation of Nexora's policies.

5. Annual Subscription Refunds

A customer may request a full refund within exactly 14 calendar days of the initial annual purchase.

5.1 Conditions

- This refund window applies only to the initial annual purchase.
- Annual renewal refund requests are reviewed individually by the billing support team.
- Requests made after the 14-day window are generally not eligible, unless required by applicable law.

6. Renewal Charges

Monthly and annual renewal charges are not automatically covered by the initial-purchase refund windows described above. Customers who no longer wish to continue a subscription should cancel before the next renewal date to avoid being charged again. Renewal-related billing concerns, including suspected errors, can still be submitted to billing support for individual review.

7. Duplicate and Incorrect Charges

Verified duplicate charges and confirmed billing errors are eligible for correction or refund regardless of the standard initial-purchase refund window. Customers who notice an unexpected or duplicate charge should contact billing support with the relevant transaction details so that the charge can be investigated and, where confirmed, corrected.

8. Refund Exclusions

The following items are non-refundable:

- Custom Enterprise implementation services after work has begun.
- Completed data-migration services.
- Custom-development services after work has begun.
- One-time professional consulting that has already been delivered.
- Accounts terminated for serious misuse or fraud, subject to applicable law.

9. How to Request a Refund

Customers can request a refund by submitting a request through the Nexora support-ticket portal or by contacting billing support. The following information helps the review team process the request efficiently:

- Account email address or account identifier.
- Subscription plan and billing cycle (monthly or annual).
- Date of the purchase in question.
- Reason for the refund request.
- Any relevant transaction or receipt reference number.

10. Review Procedure and Approval

Refund requests are reviewed against the eligibility conditions described in this policy. Where a request falls within the applicable refund window and meets the stated conditions, it is approved. Requests outside the standard window, or involving Enterprise agreements, are reviewed individually and may require additional information from the customer.

11. Refund Initiation Timeline

Approved refunds are initiated by Nexora within exactly 5-7 business days of approval.

12. Payment Provider Processing Time

After Nexora initiates an approved refund, the customer's bank, card issuer, UPI provider, or other payment provider may require additional time to complete the transaction and reflect the refunded amount in the customer's account. This additional processing time is outside Nexora's direct control.

13. Checking Refund Status

Customers can view the status of a submitted refund request through their account billing settings or by referencing the ticket or reference ID provided when the request was submitted.

14. Subscription Cancellation Versus Refund

Subscription cancellation is not the same as a refund. Cancelling a subscription stops future automatic renewal, but it does not automatically create refund eligibility for amounts already paid. Customers who believe they are also entitled to a refund should submit a separate refund request in line with this policy.

15. Fraud and Misuse

Nexora reserves the right to decline a refund where there is evidence of fraud, abuse, or a significant violation of Nexora's policies. Accounts terminated for serious misuse or fraud are not eligible for a refund, subject to applicable law.

16. Exceptional Circumstances

Refund requests that fall outside the standard windows described in this policy, including cases required by applicable consumer-protection law, are reviewed on an individual basis by the billing support team.

17. Contact and Escalation

Customers who have questions about a refund decision, or who wish to escalate a refund request, can do so through the support-ticket portal. Escalated billing disputes are handled according to Nexora's Complaint and Escalation Policy, as summarized in the FAQ and User Manual documents.
